In response to enquiries regarding potential supply chain disruption, related to tensions in the Middle East, we would like to reassure customers that Guardpack continues to manufacture in the UK using European-sourced materials. Maintaining a strong local manufacturing and supply footprint has always been a core principle of our business.

We continue to maintain secure and uninterrupted operations, with contingency measures in place should they be required. We remain in regular contact with our suppliers to monitor developments and ensure continuity of supply.

Should we anticipate any disruption within the supply chain, we will inform customers promptly. In the meantime, please feel free to contact us if you have any questions or concerns.

Kind regards

Jeremy Freedman
